- The diagram illustrates the assembly of a Cotto Tiles Studio floor. It is organized into several horizontal sections, each representing a different part of the floor plan. The top section shows a large rectangular area with a grid of small squares, representing the tiles. Below this, there are several smaller rectangular areas, each with its own grid of squares. These areas are labeled with text and numbers, indicating their dimensions and the number of tiles required. The labels include "Cotto Tiles Studio", "Cotto Tiles", "Cotto Tile Studio", and "Cotto Tiles Studio". The numbers include "1,000", "3", and "3". The diagram also includes a legend for "Cotto Tiles" at the top right, which shows a small square representing a tile. The overall layout is a complex grid of squares, with some squares being shaded in light blue and others in light green. The diagram is divided into sections by horizontal lines, and each section contains a grid of squares representing the tiles. The labels and numbers are placed around the grids, indicating the dimensions and the number of tiles required for each section. The legend at the top right shows a small square representing a tile, with the text "Cotto Tiles" next to it.
